

Transition Regulations International Bachelor Economics and Business Economics - since 2007

Transition Regulation 2021

Per September 2021 the following changes in Bachelor 3 have become effective:

Old courses Bachelor 3 Academic year 2020-2021		Substitute courses Bachelor 3 Academic year 2021-2022
For students who have taken the Philosophy course in Bachelor 1:
FEB12002X	Philosophy of Economics (4 ec) + Bachelor thesis (old) (8 ec)		Career Skills (2 ec)* + Bachelor thesis (new) (10 ec)*
For students taking the Philosophy of Economics course in Bachelor 3:
FEB12002X	Philosophy of Economics (4 ec)	FEB11020	Philosophy (4 ec)

* Compulsory for students who started their bachelor programme in 2019-2020 or later

Senior students who have obtained a valid but insufficient (non-compensable) result for Philosophy of Economics in an earlier academic year, will only have the opportunity to take examinations in this course in the academic year 2021-2022.

A previously achieved result for the philosophical essay will only remain valid in 2021-2022. Students can choose whether they want the examination to count for 100% (e.g. if they haven't written an essay before, or if they got a low grade for their essay), or if they want to enter the grade of their essay, in this case the essay counts for 30% and the examination for 70% of the final grade.

Transition Regulation 2020

As of the academic year 2020-2021, the composition of Bachelor 2 has been revised: FEB12015X-Introduction to Behavioural Economics (4 ec) has been moved to Bachelor 1. Instead of this course, the new course FEB12018X-Marketing (IBEB) (4 ec) is offered in Bachelor 2.

Senior students who have obtained an invalid or valid but insufficient (non-compensable) result for FEB12015X-Introduction to Behavioural Economics in an earlier academic year, still have the opportunity to take examinations in this course (both the regular examination and the resit examination) and follow the lectures and tutorials of this course in the academic year 2020-2021.

Transition Regulation 2019

As of the academic year 2019-2020, the composition of Bachelor 1 has been revised: FEB11008-Marketing (8 ec) has been replaced by FEB12015X-Introduction to Behavioural Economics (4 ec) and the new course FEB11020X-Philosophy (4 ec).

Senior students who have obtained an invalid or a valid but insufficient (non-compensable) result for FEB11008-Marketing in an earlier academic year, only have the possibility to take examinations in this course (both the regular examination and the resit examination) in the academic year 2019-2020. Already obtained results for the assignments, the marketing plan and the interim test remain valid in 2019-2020 only.

NB For senior students, the Bachelor's programme remains unchanged; senior students follow FEB12015X-Introduction to Behavioural Economics in Bachelor 2 and FEB12002X-Philosophy of Economics in Bachelor-3.

Transition Regulation 2018

Majors

As of the academic year 2018-2019, the composition of the Majors has been revised.

Students who have started a Major in an earlier academic year, may still complete this Major in the old composition of the academic year 2017-2018 or earlier. This also applies to the Major Accounting and Finance which is no longer offered as of the academic year 2018-2019.

Bachelor's thesis

Students who have started a Major in an earlier academic year are not required to write the Bachelor's thesis on a subject from this Major.

Transition Regulation 2017

Not applicable

Transition Regulation 2016

Not applicable

Transition Regulation 2015

Senior students may continue their bachelor's programme in the academic year 2015-2016, although with the following adjustments:

Old courses Academic year 2014-2015		Substitute courses Academic year 2015-2016
FEB12016X	Economics of Ageing (4 cr)	FEB12017X	Economics of the Welfare State (4 cr)

Transition Regulation 2014

- FEB11016X-Financial Information Systems & Cost Accounting (8 cr) and FEB11017X-Financial Accounting (IBEB) (4 cr) are merged into one course: FEB11018X-Accounting (8 cr);
- The 4 cr freed up as a result of the above merger are filled with the new course FEB11019X-Skills and Guidance (4 cr).

Senior students may continue their bachelor's programme in the academic year 2014-2015, although with the following adjustments:

Old courses Academic year 2013-2014		Substitute courses Academic year 2014-2015

FEB13056X	Skills 2 (4 cr)		Elective (4 cr)

* In the academic year 2010-2011 only written examinations will be offered for FIS 1a.

 Only for students who completed the former course FEB12009X-Methods, Techniques & Researchproject (8 cr) in an earlier academic year.

Senior students who completed the major seminar in an earlier academic year may complete the Major on 20 cr (1 seminar (12 cr) + 2 courses (8 cr)).

Transition Regulation 2009

For rounding off their bachelor, senior students may use the transitional arrangement below.

Old courses Bachelor-1 2007		Substitute courses Bachelor-1 2009
FEB11010X	Skills & Guidance (4 cr)	FEB11013X	ICT (IBEB) (4 cr)
Old courses Bachelor-2 2007		Substitute courses Bachelor-2 2009
FEB12009X	Methods, Techniques & Research Project (8 cr)	FEB12012X	Methods & Techniques (8 cr)

Transition Regulation 2007

General

IBEB students who would like to finish their bachelor-1 or bachelor-3 programme can make use of the Transition Regulation below.

N.B. It's not possible anymore to take examinations as stated in the 'old' programme. Students who still have to complete 'old' courses, have to follow the corresponding 'new' courses within the Jaarplansysteem and therefore also have to attend the obligatory practicals.

IBEB-3

The Transition Regulation requires that a combination of a seminar and the Bachelor's thesis adds up to 20 cr (the combination of an 'old' seminar of 10 cr and a 'new' Bachelor's thesis of 8 cr is not allowed).

Because of the formal rule of 180 cr for completing your Bachelor's degree programme, it may be necessary to complete your Bachelor's thesis with the 'old' student workload of 10 credits.

If the total amount of credits for the bachelor-3 programme adds up to 58 of 59 credits (e.g. if some courses with the new student workload of 4 credits were followed), students can send a written request to the Examination Board for dispensation for the one or two credits that are missing. If, at the end of bachelor-3, students miss more than 2 credits, they will have to choose an extra elective.

Transition Regulation

In the schedule in the left column you can find the programme as given in the academic year 2006-2007; in the right column you can find the corresponding courses according to the new bachelor's programme.

 The courses for Bachelor-2 have remained unchanged. Therefore no transitional regulations are required.

Course codes

As a result of the introduction of the Jaarplansysteem the old course codes (capital letters FEW + four figures) were per 1 September 2007 replaced by new course codes (capital letters FEB or FEM + a new combination of figure/letter).

Old courses that were last offered in the academic year 2007-2008 keep the old FEW code.

See the course information on SIN-Online for a complete list.
