3. Use the RRS (Rights Retention Strategy)

This strategy was developed by cOAlitionS funders and allows you to upload an Author Accepted Manuscript (AAM) version of your article onto our institutional repository (Pure) with a CC license, even if the final version of the article will be closed access in the journal's website.

4. Check before submitting

Check the publisher likelihood of accepting deposit of the AAM before submitting to the journal via journal browser under Accepted version. Contact the EUR Library OA Team (openaccess.library@eur.nl) for any questions.

5. Pre-submission agreement

Send to the journal this pre-submission agreement which states that due to funder requirements you can only sign a contract if it contains a provision to reserve the right to publish the AAM version in the institutional repository.

8. Add a cover page to your AAM

Add a cover page to the AAM that includes the DOI of the published version.
Use this template provided by the EUR Library.

7. Ask for advice before signing a contract!

Before signing any contract with the publisher, contact the EUR Copyright Information Point (CIP), copyright@eur.nl. The CIP can help you with, and advise you on, the terms of the publishing agreement.

Submit your article to the journal adding the RRS statement to the submission in the acknowledgments of funding section of the manuscript.
