

Excellent start for graduates

Erasmus University Rotterdam

96%

Has a job

96% of the graduates are part of employed labor force within a year and a half after graduation, with a paid job of more than 12 hours a week (nationwide: 94%).

49%

Finds a job right away

49% of graduates find a job immediately after graduation (national: 41%) On average there are 2.2 months between graduation and the first paid job (national: 2.7).

61%

Thinks the program offers a (very) good basis

61% of the graduates think that the program provides (very) a strong basis for starting on the labor market (nationwide: 52%).

1009 EUR-graduates filled in the survey

22%

Response (nationwide: 18%)

The survey took approximately 15 minutes to fill in

NAE 2017: Master students graduated in the period 2015-2016

The National Alumni Survey is a national survey among all recently graduated master and doctoral students at Dutch universities. Erasmus University Rotterdam takes part annually. The results of the NAE answer the question: how do recently graduated academics perform on the labor market?